

6. Operating Systems

Operating systems give abstraction and arbitration to the user to run the programs.

OS handles the file system, different type of file systems like: ntfs, efat 32, etc.

file extensions tell os what to do with that file.

the magic byte at the first of that file determines the file type.